Nominations Invited For Calgary Power Jr. Citizen of Year

Albertans are reminded to send in their nominations now for Calgary Power's Junior Citizen of the Year Awards.

The Junior Citizen of the Year Program was inaugurated in 1962 as a public service by Alberta's independent electrical utility companies. Its aim is to make sure that enterprising young Albertans get the recognition they deserve. Our readers may ask — what makes a Junior Citizen? Some have performed acts of heroism, frequently at the risk of their own lives. Others have excelled in acts of quiet courage such as overcoming physical handicaps or assuming responsibility far beyond their years. Any act qualifies that makes a young person stand out in the eyes of his or her fellow citizens. The winners receive framed certificates and Government Savings Bonds at the annual Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association convention, held in the fall.

Four of the Junior Citizens of the Year from Calgary Power's service area have won added acclaim because of their heroic actions.

A 1962 winner, Judith Walters of the Felger Colony of Hutterite Brethren of Lethbridge, was cited in an article by W. O. Mitchell in a national Canadian magazine for her endeavors towards integration of the Hutterite children in our public school system. Lynda Dann of Vulcan, a 1964 winner, won her award for rescuing a 10-year-old friend from drowning. Lynda was presented with the Mounbatten Medal by Admiral of the Fleet, the Earl of Mounbatten of Burma, when he visited Canada recently. Lynda's citation calls it "the most meritorious rescue of the year".

Two 1965 winners have also received accolades for their contributions to their communities and families. Theresa Becher of Bashaw won her citizenship award for unselfish giving of her vocal talents to her community. In 1966 she won two firsts and a second at the Edmonton Musical Festival. She also won a $50 scholarship from an Edmonton radio station, and an additional $80 scholarship to the Banff School of Fine Arts.

Doris Pollard of Chip Lake won a Calgary Power Special Award when she rescued her brothers and sisters from their burning home. She was presented with an award by Lt. Governor Grant MacEwan on behalf of the Royal Humane Society. Doris performed the heroic rescue when she was just four years old.

Nominations are now being accepted for this year's Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year Awards. Readers who know of deserving young Albertans from 6 to 16 years of age are invited to contact the editor of this newspaper.

New Year Message

JANUARY 1st, 1967

As we enter 1967, I welcome the opportunity on behalf of the Government of Alberta to extend to all citizens of this province sincere best wishes for a happy, prosperous and, above all, purposeful New Year.

Nineteen sixty-six was a year of substantial progress marked by advances in almost every phase of our provincial economy as Alberta maintained its enviable record of growth and social progress. To a large degree this favorable position was the direct result of the progressive and united efforts of all our people and the continued orderly development of our diversified natural resources.

The 1966 crop year established new records with world demands assuring ready sales. Income from cattle sales increased substantially, offsetting a drop in hog marketing. Prospects for the livestock industry in 1967 are favorable.

The most serious problem confronting agriculture continues to be steadily rising capital and operating costs which are not being offset by a comparable increase in farm income.

Mineral production in 1966 exceeded that of the previous year and should continue to increase steadily throughout 1967.

The construction industry showed marginal gains with sharp reductions in the value of permits for industrial and commercial buildings offset by the increased value of institutional-type construction.

Shortages of qualified personnel in some occupations tended to peak in periods of brief duration and no serious delays resulted.

Labor-management relations in Alberta have remained generally good in contrast to widespread work stoppages in other areas of the country. Both labor and management deserve commendation for the sense of responsibility they have demonstrated in this regard.

The new year takes on added significance because it marks our national centenary. Canadians have achieved much for which they can be grateful during their first century of nationhood. Our second century will hold many new challenges and opportunities and at the same time will make stern demands on our abilities to resolve the major national problems confronting us at the present time.

We cannot ignore the serious implications of rising prices, spiralling costs, pyramiding debts, growing government deficits and the steady increase in the burden of taxation. Nor can we ignore the widespread public frustration and concern created by national political confusion and the parliamentary instability that has marked the past year.

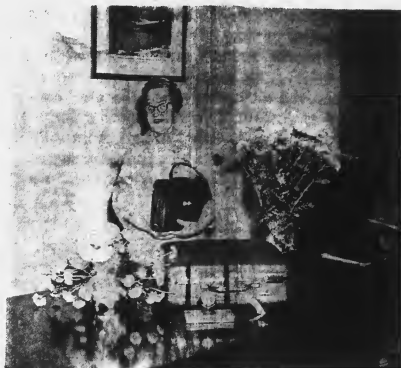

These problems must be faced and solved as we enter our second centenary of nationhood. With clearly defined national objectives, Canada can move forward into a new year; and our second century with confidence.

Again, my sincere best wishes to all citizens of this province for 1967.

ERNEST C. MANNING,
Premier of Alberta.

The pavilion of Monaco at Expo 67 will have as its theme "The Joy of Living, the Reward of Men". The theme will re-create the Monegasque atmosphere of luxurious gardens, blue skies, the Mediterranean and of course — the casino.

Valued Services Are Lauded

who was recently honored at a banquet held at the Turtle Mountain Hotel when she was presented with many gifts on the occasion of her retirement as secretary of the Coleman School District for the past 16 years. Mrs. Goulding is seen here near some of the gifts she received.

Family Service Bureau Extends Thanks

The Family Service Bureau wishes to say "Thank you very much" to several people in the area for the success surrounding their "Christmas Hamper Project".

First, to the local papers and clergy who told the public of our plans; then to the Cheen Club for making the posters needed for the venture; to the store-owners who gave us special spots in their establishments where we put the donation boxes; to all the fine folks who contributed by putting groceries into these boxes, and to those who gave cash donations, which went to buy the turkeys for the hampers.

Some of the members of our own board deserve special recognition for their leg and back work in collecting the materials into one spot.

A group of interested women of the Pass took on the work involved in sorting the goods and putting it into hampers. To them we say thanks too, and extend it to the Miller and Brown Transport who helped us hurdle a transportation problem that arose, and lastly, again to the Cheen Club whose members spent a pre-holiday evening delivering the hampers to 17 recipients.

The Bureau feels that the results of the project have been very worthwhile, and for its success we say to the people of the Pass "THANK YOU".

New Year Message Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta

There is something special about New Years this time, inasmuch as it brings us to our Centennial Birthday. I hope the year will be all that we had resolved to make it, with fun and celebrations, but also with some serious thoughts about the lessons from history.

Canadian history is rich and interesting at any time, but on the occasion of our Centennial Anniversary, we should review carefully the reasons for Confederation in the first place, and then think seriously about the need for re-dedication to some high resolves about Canadian unity.

No people ever inherited finer opportunity to build greatness in their Nation. Working together with understanding, Canadians are in a position to enrich themselves and set a fine example for the world.

My sincere wish is that for Albertans, and indeed, all Canadians, 1967 will be a year of progress in achieving all worthy goals, and a year of genuine contentment.

GRANT MACDEWAN,
Lieut.-Governor of Alberta.

Fine Turnout For Legion Party

A large crowd was on hand at the Legion party held in the Legion club rooms on New Year's Eve. Dancing, lunch and refreshments were enjoyed until the early hours of the morning.

A draw, sponsored by the Legionnaires was held, and the lucky winners were Peter Zook and Frank Fraser.

Holds Perfect Crib Hand

If starting off the New Year with a 29 crib hand signifies luck, Bob Parry of Coleman, will be in for one of the best years he has yet experienced.

Playing cribbage with a friend, Frank Zurek, on January 3rd, Robert Parry surprised all of the persons in the Coleman Community Recreation room by being dealt a perfect crib hand. He was dealt three fives and the Jack of Clubs and the Five of Clubs was turned up.

In all of his 53 years of playing cribbage, Mr. Parry stated this was the first time he had ever held the perfect hand.

Fire Destroys Local Residence

Fire that is believed to have started from an overheated coal heater completely razed the frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dingreville of Willow Drive at around 3 a.m. January 6.

Mrs. Dingreville spotted the fire in the ceiling of the four roomed house's front room and rushed to a neighbor to turn in the alarm.

The Coleman Brigade was on the scene in short order, but extremely cold, 22-below-zero weather kept freezing the equipment, and hampered the fire-fighters.

The home and all its contents were destroyed.

The house, owned by Tony Kus of Lethbridge, was not insured, but the contents and belongings in the home, owned by the Dingrevilles, were insured.

Crows Nest School Division Formed

The Crows Nest Consolidated School District No. 78 and the Coleman School District, which have amalgamated to form a division, will be known as the Crows Nest School Division No. 63 as of December 31.

John Albizzati, secretary of the Crows Nest Consolidated School District, has been appointed as temporary secretary of the new division.

Nominations are to be called for on or before January 5, 1967, and will be accepted until 5 p.m. January 20, 1967.

If necessary, an election for the new board of trustees will be held on February 1, 1967, and the first organizational meeting will be held on Monday, February 6, 1967.

At road speeds of 60 miles per hour, approximately 2600 gallons of water per hour are circulated through the average radiator.

Coleman Council Is Stumped

Mayor John Holyk and members of the council were faced with a decision they could not make on December 27.

The Mayor and council, making their annual rounds of the town to judge outdoor electrical lighting and decoration during the evening hours, found so many superbly decorated homes they could not decide which was the most outstanding.

Notes were taken on the points on each of the decorated homes, and winners will be decided at the January 10 council meeting.

Coleman Library Annual Meeting

The Coleman Community Library will hold its annual meeting in the Library on Monday, Jan. 16, at 7:30 p.m. All persons interested are cordially invited to attend.

OF MANY THINGS
 (By Ambrose Hills)
"Punk Wearing An RCMP Hat"

When I bought Greenhorn Farm, and moved here a few months ago, I made a deal with myself to stop letting world affairs bother me, and to talk and write, instead, about the pleasures and miseries of life on the farm; but a couple of brief paragraphs in The Vancouver Sun, when combined in a single article by Keith Bradbury, shocked me out of my placid contemplation of the good earth.

In a vivid article about the Grey Cup riots in Vancouver, Bradbury listed some of the impressions and incidents that stood out in his mind after a night filled with almost unbelievable events.

Item: "A punk wearing an RCMP hat, and a paddy wagon with a smashed windshield". Item: "A cry of 'police brutality' from the crowd."

The punk had stolen an RCMP hat and was parading around with it defiantly. When he was being hauled to the paddy wagon the crowd made its silly jibe of 'police brutality'. They were all on the side of the punk, or at least the vocal ones were.

This recent riot follows close on the heels of a Hallowe'en ruckus in North Vancouver and general Hallowe'en vandalism throughout the lower mainland of B. C. In each case, on open line broadcasts and elsewhere, the punks had a surprisingly large backing of supporters who thought it was all mere "animal good spirits" and "a release of energy" and the like. They thought more community clubs, swimming pools and other expensive entertainment should be provided to end these sad affairs.

This vandalism and disrespect for authority was bound to occur in a society which increasingly rewards the punks, bums and the ne'er-do-wells while taxing the heart out of more solid citizens and jeering at them for their success.

If society continues to overlook the increasing violence and vandalism on Hallowe'en and almost every other festival or celebration, we will develop such a hard core of habitually criminal types that even our marvelous RCMP men will be unable to control them.

This malicious group of bums will then need only a single leader of the Stalin, Hitler or Mussolini type to take us straight into a society ruled from the top down by toughs and criminals. It will have some fancy slogans, and capitalize on some good causes, but its real goal will be total regimentation and an end to the freedoms we enjoy under the law.

10-year old Roy is a favorite in his community. He always has a cheery "hello", a winning smile. He is a good student, always willing to try a new endeavour. Roy is a keen sports fan and participates in many school sports activities. Besides this, Roy is very interested in animals and is a member of the Carstairs 4-H Club. He attends church regularly and is a member of the Sunday School.

Roy does all these things despite a severe physical handicap. He was born with no hands and malformed feet! Last year, Roy's duties as Alberta's Easter Timmy took him far and wide in the cause of public service. This courageous little boy is a worthy winner of the Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year award!

We congratulate Roy and thank Alberta's Weekly Newspaper Editors for their active co-operation in the Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year program, sponsored by Alberta's investor-owned electric utility companies.

Freezing Christmas Extras

If you stocked too many supplies for the holiday season, freeze portions of it and you'll have it on hand for future occasions.

Nut meats, any variety, may be packed tightly in moisture proof vapor proof cartons and kept successfully in freezer storage for several months.

All candy will keep for as long as a year in the freezer if they are fresh when frozen and if the package is carefully wrapped. It is best to pack home-made candy in a box, with waxed paper between the layers before wrapping it. Fudge, divinity and fondant, will defrost at room temperature in 10 to 20 minutes. Peanut brittle, toffee, caramels and other hard candies take from 20 to 30 minutes to thaw. Chocolates will not turn gray as they often do at room temperature.

Cigarettes will remain fresh and moist if frozen. They should be thawed at room temperature. Potato chips keep their crispness and flavor well in freezer storage.

Did a friend present you with a fruit cake for Christmas? Fruit cakes freeze very well. They should be wrapped in polythene or foil and are thawed unwrapped. Storage time in the freezer may be up to one year.

Baked cookies may be wrapped in polyethylene bags or square cartons for up to a period of six months. Thaw at room temperature in unopened package to prevent sogginess. Then cookies may be opened immediately and set out.

Plum puddings and other steamed puddings may be frozen successfully. To reheat the puddings for serving, place them while still frozen, or after thawing, in a steamer and heat to serving temperature.

Is there mince pie you'd like to use at a future date? Our grandmothers baked several weeks' winter supply of mince pies and froze them on the back porch or in the attic. Mince pies are excellent for freezing. To freeze, protect the top with a paper plate or package in cartons. They should be wrapped in moisture proof vapor proof material. Baked pies may be thawed in the oven at 325 degrees F. for 30 minutes to heat through. Pies can be stored in the freezer for a maximum length of six months.

A bulletin "Preserve by Freezing", is available free of charge from the Office of the District Home Economist.

My very best wishes to all of you for the Very Happiest of New Years.

Have you ever wondered...

...who keeps Albertans informed on government activities?

To make sure that as many Albertans as possible know as much as possible about government activities and services is the responsibility of the Alberta Government Publicity Bureau. Although attached to the Department of Industry and Development, the Bureau's scope includes all departments and, to keep the public informed, it utilizes many forms of communication. Advertisements, such as this, news releases provided to all media, a variety of free periodicals, all help keep you informed on the activities of your Provincial government and the services it performs on your behalf.

...what is the most important use of water?

Water is VITAL to the sustenance of human life; necessary for irrigation and industry; preferred for the production of power; and desirable for recreation. These are the priorities set for the use of Alberta's water by the Water Resources Division of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, and it is the responsibility of this agency to see that the supply is distributed accordingly. To help accomplish this purpose, no one may divert water without authority from the Division and permanent records are kept of all water diversions. This careful control is necessary for the long term planning required to assure Alberta sufficient water for all uses through the growing years ahead.

...if the rights of any Albertan are being destroyed by discrimination?

The continuance of the traditional Alberta policy of judging a man by his personal worth, not by race, creed or color, is the purpose of The Human Rights Act. Administered by the Alberta Department of Labour, this Act is designed to safeguard the dignity and human rights of all residents of the Province. In order that each Albertan will know his rights and responsibilities under The Human Rights Act, an extensive educational and informative program is currently being prepared by the Department of Labour.

...about the flowers that beautify Alberta's public buildings at special events in mid-winter?

It's summer all year 'round in the Provincial greenhouses maintained by the Alberta Department of Public Works and it's here that plants which bloom at different times of the year are specially raised in preparation for specific occasions such as the opening of the Legislature for Christmas. By some green-thumb magic, plant growth is speeded up or retarded to allow their blooming to coincide with the special event. The greenhouses are also the source of seedlings for the flowerbeds decorating Provincial buildings all over Alberta. Over a quarter of a million plants are grown here every year.

...if homesteading in Alberta is extinct?

Homesteading is still very much alive in our Province, sustained by an average of more than 1,000 applications for land received each year by the Lands Division, Alberta Department of Lands and Forests. Under homesteading regulations a man can purchase land at the going price, without competitive bidding, and he doesn't have to make any payments during those important first three years when he needs all his capital to establish his buildings and obtain equipment. He doesn't start paying taxes or payments on the land until the beginning of the fourth year. In return for these advantages, the homesteader agrees to cultivate a minimum of 40 acres per quarter section within four years and to establish residence on the property for at least 12 months to qualify for title.

...what precautions are taken to provide immediate treatment of accidental poisoning?

Every general hospital in Alberta has a poison control centre where information of poisonous substances is immediately available to the family doctor, the hospital nurse or, in emergencies, to parents. Maintained by the Department of Public Health, these centres have a quick reference system which provides details on whether or not a substance is poisonous and, if so, what the active poisonous material is and what can be done about it. In addition to these poison control centres, poison information centres are located in Calgary and Edmonton, where information on special treatment of unusual poisons is immediately available to doctors or hospitals.

A Public Service Message

The publisher and staff of this newspaper wish to remind all of their readers that a Merry Christmas is a Safe Christmas.

Do not spoil the Holiday by careless or thoughtless selection and handling of the Christmas tree and its trimmings.

We ask you to follow these 10 simple rules:

1-Select a fresh green tree.

Avoid trees that have become dry through storage. Keep your tree outdoors until you are ready to put it up.

2-Keep the butt of the tree immersed in water.

3-Do not stand the tree near windows, doors or other exits or near a radiator or other source of heat.

4-Use fireproof ornaments such as metal and tinsel.

5-Check old tree lights for frayed wires and defects. Try them on the floor before putting them on the tree. If in any doubt get new lights.

6-When purchasing new lights, look for the CSA label, the mark of approval of the Canadian Standards Association — your assurance that they are safe from fire and shock hazard.

7-It is vital that indoor lights be used only indoors and outdoor lights only outdoors.

8-Christmas gift wrappings are a source of greatest danger. They should be disposed of immediately after presents have been opened.

9-Do not leave children unattended, even for a moment. A Christmas tree can become a raging inferno and reduced to ashes in 18 seconds.

10-Dispose of the tree as soon as possible.

REMEMBER: a safe, accident free Christmas is a MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Report From Parliament Hill

(Lawrence E. Kindt, M.P.)

Federal Medicare Act

The Medicare bill as passed by the House of Commons on December 8, 1966, has now received Royal Assent and is now the law of the land, but will not be put into operation before July, 1968.

The principal provision of the Act is to pay half the cost of insurance plans set up by the provinces. The province is responsible for health plans under the British North American Act. Before a provincial plan can qualify for the 50 per cent federal assistance, the provincial law on medicare must satisfy the following criteria, as set forth in clause four, section one:

- "The plan is administered and operated on a non-profit basis by a public authority appointed or designated by the government of the province"
- "The plan provides for and is administered and operated so as to provide for the furnishing of insured services upon uniform terms and conditions to all insurable residents of the province..."
- "The number of insurable residents of the province who are entitled under the plan to insured services is not less than 90 per cent of the total number of insurable residents of the province — throughout the third and each subsequent year 95 per cent."
- "The plan does not impose any minimum period of residence or any waiting period in excess of three months before persons who are or become residents of the province are eligible to insured services."

When the Medicare bill was first introduced to the House of Commons, certain weaknesses were apparent. The Opposition moved several amendments, but each was ruled out of order by the Speaker. These amendments were designed to have included in the insured services not only medical doctors, but also those of optometrists, podiatrists, chiropractors, dentists and others.

The debate continued for seven days and finally, on the seventh day, the message got through. The Minister announced he was prepared to amend the Medicare bill. Under this amendment the Federal government is now prepared to pay its contribution for any medical or para-medical service authorized by a provincial government in a provincial medical insurance plan. This amendment has met the most of the Progressive Conservative criticisms, and has placed the responsibility for medical services right back where it belongs — under the British North American Act, with the governments of the provinces.

The next step in bringing medical insurance to the people is up to the provinces to pass enabling legislation.

In 1964, 4100 suggestions won $200,000 for people at General Motors of Canada. Awards ranged from $15 to $6,000. Thirty-eight GM people each won more than $1,000 last year.

This Is The New Western Union Insurance Building

It might serve as a Centennial symbol showing the growth of our all-Canadian-owned company to fifty times its original size in a quarter-century. Now Alberta's largest chartered insurance company, Western Union Insurance has assets exceeding $5,000,000. Its 55,000 policyholders — business firms, householders and farmers, served by independent qualified agents in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia — hold policies covering every class of general insurance.

By moving into our new headquarters, we can provide even better service and facilities. For example, we are now one of only eight insurance companies in Canada to have an IBM 560 30 — North America's most modern insurance data processing equipment.

Thank you, Western Canada. And may we suggest that, in Centennial Year, you choose a Canadian-owned insurance company. There are only a few among the hundreds operating in Canada. Your agent will know them.

Nowhere else in North America today is there a city as vibrant and alive with the zeal and zest of accomplishment as Montreal—and a great deal of the credit for this dramatic development must be laid right at the doorstep of Expo.

There are those who think the whole revolutionary concept should have been called 'the Montreal World Fair' instead of Expo—but if it had been saddled with such a mundane, run-of-the-mill name then perhaps it might have faced the possibility of being just another world fair.

But the name Expo sparkles—and the fame of Expo is already echoing around the globe.

And Expo, with its theme 'Man and His World' is now in every phase and facet; with architects, designers, engineers and artists caught up in the creative and boundless outburst that is developing on two islands and a peninsula in the mighty St. Lawrence River at Montreal, the true 'show-place of the nations', really 'the world in 1,000 acres'.

The key, of course, is Montreal. Visited by Jacques Cartier, the Breton sea captain, in 1535, the place now called Montreal welcomed its first settlers in 1642; was still a fur-trading centre in the days of James McGill; has developed until today it can lay claim to the title of 'largest inland seaport on the globe' and 'air crossroads of the world', and make them both stick.

From coast to coast in Canada, all up and down both coasts of the North American Continent, in Europe, the British Isles and elsewhere — a high percentage of the 35,000,000 who will see Expo between April 28 and October 27 next year, will be drawn to it partly because it is being staged at Montreal.

It is probably true to say that Expo '67, as it has been planned and is being presented, could not have been accomplished elsewhere — so vibrant is it, so pulsating with the very joie de vivre that is Montreal in the present day.

Expo will be the event of '67, the most spectacular presentation of its kind ever conceived and at the very foundation is Montreal's reputation for geniality, and the warmth of its welcome.

The compasses of the transportation world will point towards Montreal next year (1967) as travellers drive, fly and sail into the city for Expo '67. In and around Montreal, multi-laned freeways are nearing completion to handle the influx of automobiles. Transatlantic airlines are already planning daily services from European capitals instead of their now once-weekly flights. A record number of passenger liners will sail up the St. Lawrence, including the flagships "France" of the French Line and "Michelangelo" of the Italian Line. The international destination in '67 will be Montreal and a world exhibition second to none. National pavilions of individual nations, Canadian Federal and Provincial pavilions, International Pavilions and the famous Theme Pavilions, all will be there, as well as the myriad attractions erected by industries, organizations, groups and associations.

There will be a vast amusement section, restaurants galore—and all with ease of access, and popularity of price.

And remember, Expo is in close proximity to the heart of Montreal, Canada's metropolis with so many attractions of its own. (Address correspondence to Tracy S. Ludington, Expo '67, at 7005 Kildare Road, Montreal 29).

Centennial Badges For Postal Employees

Canada's postal employees are going to participate in next year's Centennial celebrations by voluntarily wearing badges bearing the Centennial symbol. The over 12,000 Letter Carriers and 4,000 Wicket Clerks are being requested to display the symbols on their uniforms throughout 1967.

At a recent ceremony in Hull, Quebec, Postmaster General Jean-Pierre Cote and Secretary of State Judy LaMarsh presided at an official presentation of the badges to Post Office employees. The Hull Carriers and Clerks were the first to wear the gold-colored symbols; those at other offices across Canada will follow suit in the New Year.

In his remarks to the employees, Mr. Cote explained the significance of the symbol, which is gold on a navy background. The badges are a joint project of the Canada Post Office and the Centennial Commission to publicize this country's one hundredth birthday. They will be worn on the right sleeve of uniforms of Letter Carriers and on the breast pocket of uniforms of Wicket Clerks.

Miss LaMarsh was representing the Centennial Commission which is under her jurisdiction and which made the badges available.
